Dear Harold:

As I might have known, I am deeply indebted to you not only for the dispatch with which you handled the picture snatching job for me, but also for your acumen. My thanks -- which I hope to convey in a more concrete way after we get really organized next year.

Thanks for today's letter with its valuable suggestions for stories. I am sorry that I stimulated you into so much action because we are already completely closed on our experimental issue which is now going to press. Indeed, the senators' pictures are to fill one of the last gaps in the issue.

My best to Lil and anyone else who is likely to be around.

Sincerely,

Bob
